RED RICE'S—THURSDAY, JUNE 4.
A dollar saved is as good as any other dollar. That you can save money by visiting Red Rice's is universally admitted, even by those few interested in believing to the contrary. But there are yet some who imagine that the goods at Red Rice's are of an inferior grade because we sell cheaper. This is not so. We buy of the best; none better in the city; none ricner to be found anywhere. But we don't have to make as much profit as others, for our sales are larger. Then better, we get goods cheaper than betters. We get goods cheaper than chers. We get goods cheaper than chers. We get goods cheaper than chers. We not sell said will conneces to buy from those wao must sell and will conneces to buy from those wao must sell and will conneces to buy from those wao must sell and will conneces to buy from those wao must sell and will region, unless he is hidebound and can't tell a good thing. Yes, we are after you. Come and look in at the door, anyway. You will be welcomed at 143 and 145 s, MAIN ST., Los Angeles. Rates of Subscription. Opening of the Case for the Defense.

Russell Gives the Plaintiff an Unmerciful Tongue-lashing.

Scion of English Aristocracy Offers Some Amusing Testimony.

'My Dear Chaps" Agreed That "This Is Too Hot" When They Found That Sir William Had Cheated.

By Telegraph to The Times. LONDON, June 3 .- | By Cable and Associated Press.] There was still the same crowl of fashionable people present this morning when the court opened to continue the trial of the baccarat case. The Prince of Wales was in his usual place. Sir Charles Russell, leading counsel for defendants, commenced his address on behalf of his clients.

There were nine persons concerned in this melancholy business, said Sir Charles, all of whom have known the plaintiff, Cumming, for many years. The plaintiff admitted that he said his accusers were acting conscientiously in this matter, and the jury would find it impossible to believe that those persons were mistaken in regard to the character of the plaintiff's conduct on the nights of the 8th and 9th of September, 1890. Plaintiff had admitted that they were all persons of bonor and honesty and having made the charges they adhered to them, and plaintiff had not asked to be confronted with either of his accusars. The obligation to accreacy are cusers. The objection to secrecy came from Lycett Green, who asked that the matter be thrashed out then and there in order to avoid the possibility of plaintiff afterward repudiating the charges. Plaintiff had signed a de-grading, humilisting document and he did not take steps to bring his slanderers to justice until he found him-self in another tight place. Then he turned upon those who had been quiet and had adhered to the agreement, though in their eyes he was a dishon-

With this remark Sir Charles seemed to take up another line of argument for he said, gazing earnestly at the jury: "And what about the three principal actors and plaintiff's action in regard to them? Do you, gentle-men of the jury, doubt that each of in regard to them? Do you, gentlemen of the jury, doubt that each of those gentlemen believed him guilty? He knew that in their eyes he was no longer in the ritegory of honorable men. Was it conceivable that an innocent man under such circumstances should bear such an edious stigma cast upon him? Four months after the baccarat games at Tanbycroft when Sir William made the attempt through Berkeley Levett, one of the witnesses, to secure a modification or withdrawai of the charges, defendants said they were prepared to substantiate the Berkeley Levett, one of the witnesses, to secure a modification or withdrawai of the charges, defendants said they were prepared to substantiate the

Sir William Gordon Cumming."# Sir Charles Russell then laid special stress upon the "peculiar circum-stances" under which the action was brought and referred at length to the interview which Sir William Gordon Cumming had with Lieut. Levett, who was a subaltern in plaintiff's regiment and who, being asked by Sir William to do what he could with Sir Arthur Wilson in regard to the baccarat scandal, replied that he could not disbelieve his own eyes, though he added he would gladly do anything for the sake of the regiment to which they belonged. "Plaintiff's conduct," Sir Charles continued, "at no stage of this distressing story has been the conduct of an innocent and honorable man. No innocent and honorable man would have lain quiet under the charges made was a subaltern in plaintiff's regiment the presentation was brought only when plaintiff failed in his efforts to secure his retirement on half pay from the army.

Counsel dilated upon the innocent character of the Tanbycroft card party and the mild character of the baccarat games played there, saying: "One of the satisfactory results of this case has been the dissolution of absurd and pre-posterous notions which have been formed in regard to the occurrence at Tanbycroft."

At the request of Sir Charles Rus-sell, models of the whist tables used each night at Tanbycroft in September for playing baccarat, in default of regular baccarat tables, with the position of the players especially marked upon them, were produced. Sir Charles Russell also caused the jury to be shown photographs of the rooms at Tanbycroft where the now historical games of bacarrat were played. The jurymen examined this exhibit with a ther upon several points which were brought out by the production of the exhibit.

Sir Charles Russell also dwelt upon the intricacies of the game of baccarat, and explained to the jury that from the positions which, as they could see from the tables, the players occupied, it was utterly impossible for a witness to be mistaken as to the conduct with which Sir William Gordon Cumming was onarged.

It was noticed that the Prince of Wales and Sir William Gordon Cumming followed Sir Charles' speech with great attention and deep interest. In describing the events which took place Sir Charles said Arthur Stanly Wilson witnessed repeated acts of cheating upon the part of Sir William Gordon Cumming, and that when he (Wilson) turned to Berkeley Levett and whispered "Cummings is cheating," the latter (Levett) replied "Nonseuse, you are mad," "But," added Sir Charles, "Berkeley Levett after receiving this communication paid more attention to the game, watched Sir William Gordon Cumming's play and saw for himself that what Atthur Stanley Wilson had said was true. After the play was over Wilson told his mother, Mrs. Arthur Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Atthur Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lycett Green of what he had seen while Cumming was playing. And was no concert of action of any kind, but all who knew the story of the previous day's play and Sir William Gordon Cummings' action saw the latter repeat the actions complained of. Renewed interest was shown upor Renewed interest was shown upon the part of the always most attentive audience gathered in the Court of Queen's Bench when Arthur Stanly Wilson, son of the millionaire owner of Tanbycroft, and leading stockholder of the well-known Wilson line of steamers plying between Hull, London and New York, and many other parts, entered the witness box as the first witness for the defense. He testified to the fact that on the first night of the baccarat playing at Tanbycroft, in baccarat playing at Tanbycroft, in September, he saw a red counter on a piece of paper in front of Sir William Gordon Cumming, When the latter's stake was won Sir Willian had his hands in front of him and he also had another £5 counter in the palm of his right hand. The Baronet, according to witness, then looked at Sir Edward Somerset's hand and seeing that he held a natural and court card, he (Sir William) at osce dropped the £5 counter from his right hand and was paid on both of the counters which he

This evidence, given by Wilson with-out any hesitation and in a manner which seemed to impress the jury and which decidedly impressed the audi-ence, caused a great sensation in the had thus placed on the table.

The court adjourned for luncheon in the midst of this testimony and the Prince of Wales again honored the Lord Chief Justice. Lady Coleridge and her party with his presence at luncheon, while such celebrities as luncheon, while such celebrities as Lords Coventry and Somerset and Gen. Owen William, who had failed to bring luncheon, which their better ballasted friends had provided themselves with, had to fight for refreshments for themselves and the ladies of their parties around the public house bars of the neighborhood, which were packed to suffication by the common herd. After lunch Wilson continued his testimony, relating how he talked with Levett the first night the cheat-cheating at cards.

Wilson also told his mother, who said: "For goodness sake, don't have a scandal here!" The next night all watched and waited. They distinctly saw Cumming cheating on two occa-sions during the night. When the dis-closures were made the Prince of Wales questioned Cumming and others,

Young Wilson with dramatic effect reproduced Sir William Gordon Cumming's attitudes and motions at the card table to show how the cheating was done. Then he reproduced his (Wilson's) interview with Levett, telling how "my dear chap" appealed to "my dear chap" and both agreed that "this is too hot." Wilson distinctly denied the existence of a compact to

Justice Owens Declares the Evidence Insufficient.

FULL TEXT OF THE OPINION.

The Widow Offers a Reward of a Thousand Dollars for the Apprehension of the Murdarer.

Justice Owens announced at the close of the argument on the motion to dismiss in the preliminary examination of George H. Miles for the murder of George W. Miller, Monday afternoon, that he would announce his decision at 1:30 yesterday afternoon. Accordingly at that hour the courtroom was crowded. Miles had been brought down from the County Jall some time before and occupied a seat near the attorneys table. He maintained his cool demeanor. apparantly taking but little interest in those around him, although he occasionally nodded to an acquaintance. The attorneys were promptly on hand, and when Justice Owens took his seat Mr. Shinn walked up to the bench, and there was a short consultation. Justice Owens announced that there would be recess of a few minutes, and with District Attorney McLachian and Mr. with District Attorney McLachian and Mr.
Shinn, visited the Carlton saloon, on Spring street, where His Honor personally inspected the scene of the murder, after which the party returned to the courtroom.
The Justice immediately resumed his seat, and, without any preliminaries, gave his decision dismissing the complaint and discharging the prisoner. The decision in full is as follows:

California vs. George H. Miles, I have been listening to the evidence for several days, and yesterday the people rested and the defendant made a motion that the complaint be dismissed and the defendant discharged upon the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence.

Of course, in this case the corpus delictif has been proyed beyond question, that somebody murdered George W. Milier on the 16th of last month, and the question we have been investigating for several days is, whether or not this defendant is the party guilty of that crime. Now, one of the first things that will attract one's attention in a case of this kind, is as to the motive that would inspire anyone, or the animus with which a man commits a crime of this description. The people contended that it was on account of a quarrel that took place between Miller and Miles on, that day, of which they had the evidence of two witnesses, and also upon the fact, testified to by one witness, that there was danger of this defendant being let out of the partnership then existing between him and the deceased. Now, the evidence as to the quarrel, to the effect that Mr. Carter thought he saw the defendant being let out of the partnership then existing between him and the deceased. Now, the evidence as to the quarrel, to the effect that Mr. Carter thought he saw the defendant and the deceased talking in an angry manner in the hallway of the Cariton saloon, and also that in the evening the deceased called the defendant, or some one else, a liar, in the front part of the room. This evidence did not strike me very forcibly. For the reason that the evidence shows, and the District Attorney in his argument admits, that Miller was very much intoxicated that day, and we, all know that an intoxicated man, in the habit of talking as Miller was, when drunk, is liable to quarrel with almost any one, and the fact that he would call Miller else.

miller was very much intoxicated that hady, and we, all know that an intoxicated man, in the habit of talking as Miller was, when drunk, is liable to quarrel with almost any one, and the fact that he would call Miles a liar, under the circumstances, is not a very strange matter to be taken into consideration, to show the motified the crimy is guilty of murder in the first degree, and ought to be hung; but the question is, under the forms of the law there must be sufficient evidence produced before a conviction can be had. Nurso is much as to the motive.

The next question was as to the manner in which the killing was done, and the implement used. The people produced a hammer, which was admitted in evidence, which they claim was used in the murder of Miller; and also the evidence of some physicians, and two or three of the police department, to the effect that on the morning of Mr. Miller's funeral, that the hammer had been fitted into the wound, and it sappeared to fit the wound, and it sappeared to fit the wound, and at that time, it was after the bost mortent examination, and after the scalp, which had been removed (skull cap, believe the ply scians called it,) and after the scalp, which had been removed from the skull, had been replaced, and we did not, unfortume that the size and shape of the sponded with the size and shape of the sponded with the size and shape of the hammer or not; and upon the hammer were found stains, which the people claim were blood, and we had considerable evidence of one kind and another, on the part of physicians, as to whether or not it was blood, and the physicians gave it as their opinion that it was, but would not give any positive very state on the top committed the physicians gave it as their opinion that it was but would not give any positive very state on the top committed the physicians had to committe the crime, and it seems that the only time that any of the winesses show he was out of the main room and in the physicians and to the opportunity this defendant had to commi had to commit the crime, and it seems that the only time that any of the witnesses show he was out of the main room and in the back part of that building at all, where the deceased was murdered, was at one time when he went out to see a man named Ed Lewis, and immediately afterward carried him some drinks out there, and to some party who was with Ed Lewis. It is the only time that was shown, and it struck me as somewhat peculiar that there were so many witnesses present in the salcon on that occasion and so few of them produced here. There was evidence showing that a man by the name of McCalden was there, and a man named Nelson, this man Ed Lewis, and a man by the name of Tunne. and a man named Nelson, this man EdLewis, and aman by the name of Tunecliffe, and another one by the name of EdDonohue, and three ladies who were there.

Not one of them were produced here, and I have no idea what they would testify to, but some of them must have known of matters that would be material in this case.
This has left the case in a very unsatisfactory condition for me to pass upon it, but in the shape it is I am compelled to pass upon it in some way, and of course it is in accordance with my best judgment in the matter. Now, as I understand the rule that if a case in the present condition that this is in—that if there is evidence here sufficient that an intelligent jury would be justified in finding a verdict of guilty against the defendant, then it would be the duty of the Court to bind him over. That if there is not sufficient evidence upon which an intelligent jury would find a verdict of guilty, then I take it that it is the duty of the Court not to bind the defendant over. Now, yesterday, when I asked to take it under consideeration I had in my mind a case which I had in mind three years ago, the case of Milier vs. The Territory, found in the 19th Pacific Rep., page 50, in which there was a murder case, and the motive, the implement and the opportunity there was gone into very extensively. The party was first examined before a magistrate and then discharged, afterward held by another magistrate and tried by three juries, the first two of which disagreed, and the last one of which convicted him of murder in the first degree, and upon that the case was appealed to the Supreme Court and they sent it back to the lower court with an order to dismiss the case, and it is rather an instructive case and I remembered it and looked it uo.

While the facts and circumstances are nothing similar to this case whatever, yet the reasoning on some of those points was similar to my view of this case. It was shown that there were a great many men in that asloon that evening, estimated ali th Lewis, and a man by the name of Tunne-cliffe, and another one by the name of Ed Donohue, and three ladies who were there.

in through the top, and it had been pulled out and whoever committed the murder went in from room 4 to room 3 and murdered Miller.

Now, after taking into consideration all the evidence and circumstances of this case—and I say that it is unsatisfactory that the responsibility of this decision has been thrown onto me in the manner in which it has, disagreeable, because I am satisfied that there is more evidence there that obtait to have been produced, but which has not been, and my view of the case and evidence is that no intelligent jury would be justified in bringing a verdict of guilty on the part of the defendant, and, while my view may be mistaken and this man may be the man who committed the mulder, th. I am not called upod to pass upon his innocence or guilt, and I am satisfied that there has not been sufficient evidence produced here to show that fact, sind no jury would be justified in bringing in a verdict of guilty, because the man who committed that murder is guilty of nurder in the first degree. Now, there is one advantage I have and that is that a decision of this kind is not fatal to the State on either side, because they can go and file a complaint-before some one eise, but I am compelled to pass upon the case as it is before me now, and give it my best judgment, and according to my best judgment, and according to my best judgment there is not a sufficient case made nere, and the motion to dismiss will be sustained and the defendant disenfirged.

During the delivery of the decision the utmost quiet prevailed. Miles leaned for-

During the delivery of the decision the utmost quiet prevailed. Miles leaned for-ward, his hand to his ear, listening intently ward, his hand to his ear, listening intently to every word, but his face remained impassive as ever. 'As the Justice concluded, he leaned back in his chair, and at the same moment there was a slight outburst of appliance in the lobby, which, however, was quickly checked by the bailiff. The great body of the audience then filed out of the courtroom, while several personal friends of Miles gathered around him, congratulating him on his discharge.

OFFERS $1000 REWARD.

OFFERS $1000 REWARD.

After Miles had been discharged, District-JUSTICE OWENS' DECISION.

In the case of the People of the State of California vs. George H. Miles, I have been listening to the evidence for several days, and yesterday the people rested and listening to the collection of the following:

with her. As a result of this talk Mrs.

Miller authorized the publication of the following:

I hereby offer $1000 reward to anyone who will furnish evidence sufficient to secure the conviction of the party or parties who murdered my husband, George W. Miller, on the 16th day of May, 1891, said reward to be paid only in case of conviction.

Los Angeles, June 3, 1891.

It is probable that the Governor will also be asked to offer the usual reward of $250.

In case this is done, the various detective agencies of the city, as well the police, will go to work on the case.

The police department was considerably disappointed over the result. Ever since the night of the murder Chief Glass has been at work, following every possible clew and looking up witnesses. It is only fair to state that several witnesses which the police were anxious to introduce, were not called, the District Attorney being of the opinion that they were not needed.

The police will not relax their efforts to discover the perpetrator of the foul crime and bring him to justice.

What Judge Smith Did Say.
Judge Smith of Department One of the Superior Court used language in the remarks made by him from the bench in sentencing S. J. Fleming, which was not correctly reported at the time. What he said on the disputed point was, in substance, this: "If you had been the victim of a sudden temptation, you might possibly have been entitled to sympathy and consideration, but as you used your cloth and profession to commit the crime of which you have been convicted, you have forfeited sympathy, and fully merit the punishment which has been imposed upon you," etc. was not correctly reported

In speaking of their decision to reproduce the fair in Chicago, the committee says: "Your Executive Committee called a voted to apply the surplus proceeds of the fair as far as necessary toward the expenses of the reproduction in Chicago. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce raised a guarantee fund of $4000, and the funds still being $1000 short, the Executive Committee borrowed that amount on their personal security. Your treasurer being unable to go to Chicago and it being necessary for a portion of your Executive Committee to go, Messrs, Wells and C ok put their affairs in shape to do so, and Mr. Cook being made the treasurer for the carnival purposes, your treasurer turned the surplus funds over to him as fast as possible. ports of receipts and expenditures of the orange carnival in Chicago:
Receipts, $11,707.92; expenditures, $13.-886.91, leaving a balance in bank of $821.01. Out of this the following bills have been allowed and authorized to be paid by the Executive Committee: Transportation, R. Williams, $100; carpenter, G. Perkins, $133.43; salary, H. Jay, Hanchette, $50.

There is still $18.9 when will be repaid to the carnival if the booths at the Exposition building are not replaced in their old positions. As the city of Chicago has ordered that the building be torn down immediately, it is most probable that this money will come b ck.

A small balance of about $40 is supposed to have been collected by Mr. Hanchette as a rebate, and if so is still unaccounted for. While the total expenditures are shown above as $13,886.91, it will be seen that $1000 of this is money repaid to the Executive Committee who advanced that sum, thus making the total ourisy $12,889.1 Against this sum there are rebates because of furnishings returned, $127.35; on account of light, $15.05; and because of decorations of $50, a total of $192.40, le ving the actual expenditures at the sum of $12.694.51.

Receipts—From net sale of tickets, $10,-938.23; from Executive Committee, borrowed money, $1000; from Los Angeles county premium, $400; from Citrus Fair Committee, $19.7.50; from privileges, sale of fruit, etc., $462.19; total, $14.7.7.52.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE The report of the Executive Committee of the carnival reads as follows:

"The financial report which is herewith submitted is prepared at ag early a date as was practicable. Any one who has ever taken part in an enterprise of this sort will understand that it is not possible to have all accounts submitted immediately at its close. Delays are inevitable, and the Executive Committee was unwilling to go becoming the submitted in the country of the committee was unwilling to go betaken part in an enterprise of this sort will understand that it is not possible to have all accounts submitted immediately at its close. Delays are inevitable, and the Executive Committee was unwilling to go before the public with an incomplete report, nor was it willing to make a report directly to the public, preferring r. ther to submit it first toche general committee.

"The illness of Mr. Cook, the treasurer of the organization, delayed his return home and made it difficult for the committee to undertake the work of completing the accounts as early as they might otherwise have done. There were several transactions of minor importance which the superintendent alone knew about, and his absence, as unexpected as it was unaccountable, also occasioned delay.

"In accounts of this magnitude, covering expenditures in such large varieties of lines, some comment is necessary in order to make them comprehensible to those who did not participate in the detailed work of the undertaking. The total outlay, it will be seen, $13,886.91, as against the $6038.83 expenditures for the citrus fair in Los Angeles. As the orange carnival in Chicago was supposed to be a reproduction of the citrus fair, it is necessary that the general committee, as the public should be made to understand exactly, while the expenses of the former were nearly double that of the citrus fair in Los Angeles. To the people of Southern California citrus fruits are a subject of daily conversation and of universal interest. To the people of Chicago they are, comparatively speaking, an insignificant trifie.

"A citrus fair is to us a matter of considerable importance. Our newspapers talk of it a month in advance; our horticultural societies and other associations work in its interests; the State assists it with an appropriation for premiums; and when the time comes for tis opening the leading localities of Southern California are all agog with active rivairy. It is, therefore, an institution which in a large measure advertises itself. A large part of the California citrus fruits are a subject of daily conversation and of universal interest. It is, therefore, an institution which in a large measure advertises itself. A large part of the work for it is done gratis. It receives assistance from many quarters, the nature and value of which is hardly appreciated until, as in the present case, a similar undertaking is at tempted elsewhere. The orange carnival in Chicago was an entertainment offered to strangers who cared, after all, comparatively little for California or her products. They were suspicious that it was an insignificant affair, undertaken for advertising purposes alone and offering them nothing which they had not seen before in other forms. It is impossible for any one who was not on the ground to appreciate the utter indifference of the earlier population in the undertaking at the outset, nor the serious effect this had upon the question of the labor and transportation accounts, and continues to the effect that by far the largest time in the list, $2508.80, is for advertising eat time in the list, $2508.80, is for advertising of the labor and transportation accounts, and continues to the effect that by far the largest time in the list, $2508.80, is for advertising of the labor and transportation accounts, and continues to the effect that by far the largest time in the list, $2508.80, is for advertising of the labor and transportation accounts, and continues to the effect that by far the largest time in the list, $2508.80, is for advertising of the labor and transportation accounts, and continues to the effect that by far t

A Detailed Statement from Treasurer Cook—The Various litems Explained—Carpenter Perkins' Vigorous Kiok.

The general committee of the State Citrus Fair Association met yesterday morning at 11:20 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce building for the purpose of hearing a report from the Executive Committee, consisting of E. W. Jones, C. M. Wells and J. W. Cook. Mr. Wells presided and Assistant Secretary Willard acted as secretary.

The general committee of the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair fair the purpose of hearing a report from the Executive Committee, consisting of E. W. Jones, C. M. Wells and J. W. Cook. Mr. Wells presided and Assistant Secretary Willard acted as secretary.

The first business before the meeting was the reading of the report of the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair held in Harder's Dutling for held in the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair held in Harder's Dutling for held in the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair held in Harder's Dutling for the port of the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair held in the carrier of the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair held in the carrier of the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair held in the carrier of the Executive Committee on the State citrus fair held in the year, and the daily cost of newstheater companies, where they take space by the year, and the daily cost of news-paper advertising was practically the same as that of any of the leading theaters of the

as that of any of the leading theaters of the city."

The report then details the various advertising plans, and says:

"Viewed by itself the item of advertising may look I rge, but when it is understood that without it, or with it reduced, we should today be facing, in all probability, an appalling deficit, its magnitude is by no means so striking.

"The next item of signs, $134.9, refers to cloth b nners hung in the building. The item entered as expense, total $1574.63, includes a large variety of matters which could not be included under the other general headings. A few of these may be commented upon; as for example, that of police service, $163, twelve men for the opening night, six men for the first week and three men for the subsequent time; press agent.

mented upon; as, for example, that of police service, $163, twelve men for the opening night, six men for the first week and three men for the subsequent time; press agent, $142; hotel accommodations, including he departers, $256.50; fruit bought of localities for advertising purposes; plumbling; gas-fitting and gas-lighting; telegrams; postage; type writing etc. When it is remembered that about 10,000 invitations were mailed in Chic.go, the postage of which was nearly $200, it may be seen that several of these miscellaneous items would help to swell the total."

"Salaries were paid only to the superintendent, Air. Hanchette, and his assistant, Mr. Wiggins; the total for the two months' service for both was $400. The item of cartage, $161.25, its less than might reasonably be expected for the delivery of, the contents of thirteen cars. It is interesting to note that the preliminary expenses of the carnival were, after all, not large compared with what it cost to keep it going. The preliminary labor and carpenter expense, $4619.34. Transportation may be added to this as a preliminary expense, $4619.34. Transportation may be added to this as a preliminary expense, $4619.34. Transportation may be added to this as a preliminary expense, $4619.34. Transportation fine to advertising.

"There is one item—that of rent—which does not appear in this list of expenditures, but which was paid in the shape of 10 per cent of the gate receipts; this amounted to $1.216.44. This contract was in the highest degree fav-rable to us. We occupied the building forty-one days, taking into consideration the time required in advance for the praparation of the designs and that used afterwards for taking toem down. This brings the rent down to the very reasonable figure of $29 a day, as against $50 a day which we paid rent for the paravilion here, where our-space was only one-half as large. "The cash which was used in the under-taking came from several sources, which is which we paid refer for the pavilion here, where our space was only one-half as large. "The cash which was used in the undertaking came from several sources, which is interesting to note. From the sale of tickets we received $12,164,67. It must be remembered that our admission res, was only great shape. He said Mr. Hanchette deliberately lied to him, "and," continued the irate carpenter, "I am satisfied Hanchette never intended to come back here or he would not have lied to me as he did."

This statement created quite a little flutter in the circle, and Mr. Wells jumped to his feet and said he was sorry that Mr. Hanchette was not present to defend himself. Mr. Wells made a statement to the effect that the Executive Committee had offered Mr. Perkins more money than Mr. Hanchette would "O. K." the bill for.

One member suggested that the matter go over until Mr. Hanchette returns.

"Then I will never get my money," replied the carpenter.

After some further discussion the matter was referred back to the Executive Committee with power to act.

"Receipts, $12,424.46; Los Angeles county premium fund, $400; surplus Los Angeles citrus fair, $1915.50; amount advanced by Wells, Jones and Cook, $1000; total, $15,739.96. Expenses of the carnival, $13,127; buils unpaid, $980.85; total, $14.095.08.

"The salary of Superintendent Hanchette is unadjusted, but is allowed in the above. Mr. Hanchette is supposed to have received Mr. Hanchette is supposed to have received Mr. Hanchette is supposed to have receive

"The difference between the receipts and disbursements is $1670.63, which represents the amount the carnival ran behind, as the money advanced, the civrus fair surplus and the Los Angeles county premium fund, amounting in the aggregate to $3315.50, cannot be properly counted in."

NOTES OF THE DAY.

Four banks in Buenos Ayres have suspended payment, and the end is not

AT the People's Party State Convention in Des Moines yesterday, a resolution against opening up the prohibition question was greeted with cheers.

THREE monuments were unveiled yesterday, one to Gen. Grant, at Galena; one to the Confederate dead at Jackson, Miss.; and one to Father Junipero Serra, at Monterey.

PEOPLE were smiling yesterday over the excitement which the Express worked itself-into about a six weeks old item describing a scrimmage be tween two Chilean vessels in the South Pacific. Even if the news is authentic. it only amounts to a little naval scrap, and the fuss made over so small a chestnut by the Express emphasizes the dearth of genuine news in that SCHNECKENBURGER, the author of the "Watch on the Rhine," that Sherman war song which attained such universal popularity in the Fatherland, is to have a monument in the Black Forest. The only monument which the author of a popular song generally receives is obscurity. Comparatively few know the names of the authors of the "Watch on the Rhine," the "Star Spangled Banner" and other songs that have been sung by millions.

THE Chicago orange carnival managers claim that the reading notices in the Chicago papers were not advertisements, yet they say:

Of this reading matter nothing except two or three i-ems appeared before we inserted our idvertisements, as the newspapers refused to consider the carnival in the light of news until their business men had received a call from our tragaurer. That ceremony being over, they were very generous with their space.

The distinction drawn by the man-

The distinction drawn by the managers appears to be a distinction without much difference.

New peculiarities of our Italian population are constantly being discovered, and they are, as a rule, by no means pleasing ones. The property clerk of the Brooklyn (N. Y.,) police station has in his position a weapon, taken from an Italian during a fight. which is probably the most murderous specimen of small arm ever manufacpistol after the fashion of a bayonet, so these we could easily dispense withalso with those who carry them.

A NEW telephone, of a remarkable being manufactured by a Chicago firm. It is a receiver and transmitter in one. There is no mouthpiece, but a button. which is pressed lightly against the throat and the vibrations of the throat in talking take the place of the usual shouting into a receiver. One advantage of this system is that the operator may be surrounded by all manner of loud noises and only his voice will be transmitted, and then he may speak almost in a whisper. Should this system prove a commercial success, it will not only relieve the public from the present telephone monopoly, but also. apparently, give us a much-improved

REFERRING to recent heavy shipments of gold to Europe, Henry Clews

Within the past two months we have sent close upon fifty millions of gold to Europe; and although the bank returns do not show exactly where it all rests, yet such a large and sudden accession to cash reserves cannot fail to strengthen confidence in the foreign money markets and produce an expansion of lending ability. Our earlier shipments of gold went principally to fussila; but, within the last two weeks the Bank of England has increased its gold by $17,500,000, and the Bank of France by $5,000,000, besides $2,750,000 in sliver. These facts 000, and the Bank of France by $5,000,000, besides $2,759,000 in silver. These facts show that the requirements of Russia were satisfied some time ago, and our subsequent exports have gone mainly toward recouping the banks of other countries for their contributions to Russia's wants. The effect of these cash gains by the Bank of England is apparent in a rise in the reserve from 33.98 per cent on the 21st inst, to 40.69 per cent on the 28th, while the London rate for money in the open market is now 3 per cent against 5 per cent two weeks ago.

THE new English census, it is said, discloses an alarming shrinkage in the agricultural population. A similar vement from the country to the city appears to be going forward in all civ-litized countries. Some affect to see nothing discouraging in this, but we take the same view. The population is the backbone of any country. It always has been. The rush to the cities is generally caused by tales of rapid wealth accumulated there with little toil. How-many of those who leave country for the city succeed, unless they have a specialty in which they excel? Look at the little stores in every city, which change hands every few months, telling a sad tale of dislated hopes. The man who has a ductive country home, without a rigage on it, is better off than 90 cent. of the city dwellers.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Work on the World's Fair is now well under way and a mass of literature is coming forward giving interest ing details of facts in connection

A comparison of the appropriations made by the various States for the 1876 fair and those made, so far, for 1893 shows that the former amounted to $1.517,000, while the latter already aggregate $2,775,000. In 1876 California gave nothing; this time she gives more than any other State, with two exceptions, and as much as one of those Kansas, which defeated its World's Fair appropriation, is now trying to raise $150,000 with which to make an exhibit. A move-ment has been inaugurated in the public schools of the State whereby the public schools of the State whereby it is hoped $40,000 or $50,000 of the amount will be contributed by the publis, the intention being to devote the sum thus raised to the erection of the Kansas building. Arkansas is not discouraged although two attempts to induce its Legislature to make a World's Fair appropriation failed. The people of the State have now taken hold of the Maked and emerged as a Greek god for the State have now taken hold of the matter and will hold a State convention in Little Rock, August 3, to agree upon a plan for raising the funds agree upon a plan for raising the funds necessary to have the State creditably represented at the exposition. Even the American Indians want to be represented by an exhibit at the World's Fair, and at the agencies in the West they are signing petitions to be granted the privilege. The petitions are addressed to the President of the United States and his cabinet, and to the Commissioners of the World's Fair. In quite pathetic language they set forth the despairing condition of the Indians, and protest against the celebration of the discovery of America-an event so momentous and disastrous to them-without being accorded proper recognition and a chance to make an exhibit which will not only serve as a most appropriate background upon which to illustrate the progress of 400 wears, but will show that the Indians themselves have made greater advancement than is generally supposed. Official acceptance of the President's invitation to participate in the exposition has been received from the following foreign governments: France, Great Britain, Germany, Spain, Japan, China, Mexico, Peru, Honduras, Salvador, Costa Rica, Columbia, Cuba, Guatemala and Jamaica, Unofficial assurance of acceptance has come from Egypt, Morocco, Nicaragua, Venezuela, Ecuador, Brazil, San Domingo, Hayti and British Co-

SKIPPER GROSSE'S ADVENTURE. He Hunts for Island Goats and Is Taken for a Wild Man. The Lower Californian relates that the skipper and Capt. Bahan had secured several wild Behen had secured several wild goats in the northern part of the usiand, and descended the steep hill to the beach in the belief that that would be the shortest and easiest way around It was climb or drown, and how he got up that step smooth bank, his worn fingers and toes testify. Nor was the worst over, as the living statue discovered. There was no easy way down to the beach, for the bleak cliff appeared practically endless. What with pick-ing cactus pins from beneath his toes, the skipper had a tedious journey. At length a defile in the cliff revealed the Emma, and the crew in camp. The lost one hallooed, but when they located the apparition it was to ocated the apparition it was to quickly seize their arms. The skipper shricked that he was not a wild man from anywhere, and so he was peacefully rescued and reciothed. Without losing a moment he pulled off in the small boat to rescue the Captain, in the small boat to rescue the Captain, who trudged into camp just after the skipper had left. The hero of the adventure kept his bunk four days following to recover from "the effects of the sunburns he had received during his three hours' picnic among the crags and peaks of Guadalupe Island."

CALIFORNIA AGAINST OLD SPAIN

A committee of raisin-growers of Fresno, in the effort to secure lower freight rates for carrying their product to market, submitted to the traffic officials an interesting statement regarding this industry, which is herewith published in full:

In 1888 there were imported into the United States from Spain, which is virtually our only competitor, two grades or raisins, the Malaga, which is a highgrade of fancy raisins, used by the more wealthy classes, to the extent of 1120 tons, and the Valencia, used by the great middle and lower classes to the extent of 12,245 tons. We will to the landing. But shortly they discovered that the beach was not continuous, being irregularly paneled by sheer walls of rock that cut into largely succeeded in curtailing the im-portation of this quality; but having planted our land without due consideration of an outlet, except in competition with Malaga raisus, and now fluding ourselves confronted with a yearly increase in acreage, we fear, unless some new market can be found, a serious overproduction will result, and to avoid this possible catastrophe we ask your assistance. The California raisin-grower is gradually bringing himself to a realization of the fact that he must no longer res content with supplienting the Malaga raisins, for the reason that after sup-planting these Malaga raisius there will be a large surplus for which a market must be found, and we know of no demand except that now filled by the Valencia raisins, which would in any way relieve us of the increase in any way relieve us of the increase in output.

The consumption of the Valencia raisins in the United States is yearly increasing. They fill a popular demand, and the present freight rate from California is not sufficiently low to allow the California producer to hip in competition with Valencia. ship in competition with Valencia. The only way to reach this trade is by laying California raisins down in the Eastern States at a price not to exceed 4 to 5½ cents a pound, and if the railroads between here and the East will make a rate of $1.10 per 100 pounds, we think the California producer can at once commence competing for the trade now enjoyed by the Valencia raisins, although at the above rate and freight the California producer would not realize more than 3½ and 4 cents in the vineyards for raisins in sacks. This would allow him but a living profit. When the production of raisins in California was small and price high, growers were enabled to realize from 8 to 10 cents per pound for their rai-sins. It will be seen that we now propose to accept a very marked con-cession. The present market price of raisins in New York points to this ne-cessity, for good three crown London layer raisins are today, selling in New York from $1.15 to $1.25 for twenty-Many of the foreign nations will erect buildings of their own. But few particulars have been yet received concerning the amounts which foreign nations will expend on their exhibits, but the probability is that they will be a larger than for any previous world's fair.

By Telegraph to The Times. GALENA (Ill.,) June 3 .- By the Associated Press.| This city today is crowded with people assembled to do honor to the memory of Gen. Grant. The occasion is the unveiling of the statue presented to his old home by H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago. From all directions crowds have poured into town since last night and fully 20,000 are now here.

The city is in gay apparel. The main thoroughfare is one panorama of red, white and blue. Arches upon the principal crossings and mottoes beokening the reverence in which the name Appomatox is held by his old neighbors, are everywhere displayed. Visitors are clustered about every landmark associated with the name of Aiming with a Revolver. Captain J. Forman, Thirteenth infan-try, says: "It is a peculiar fact that very few men, even accomplished shots, know how a revolver ought to be handled. Nearly all are taught to aim a revolve as if it were a rifle—that is, by bringing the object aimed at and the fore and hind sights into line. This is all well enough for shooting gallery practice but should never be followed in the field In training troops to use the revolver they are taught, in aiming, never to look at the weapon at all, but to keep their eyes on the object to be struck. In quick firing, and especially in shooting from horseback, much better results are obtainable in this way.

"A man throwing a stone does not look at his hand; neither does a billiard play er sight along his cue. The same ru apply to the use of short weapons. I have seen men trained to shoot excellently at a mark when they could not see their pistol sights at all. Pieces of pasteboard were fastened just in front of the cylinders, which effectually prevented the men from using their foresights, and greatly increased the rapidity, as well as the accuracy, of their fire. Nearly any one can sight a pistol correctly, the inaccuracy of the aim being due to trembling of the hands before the trigger is pressed. By hiding the sight the temptation to hold too long is removed. and the first aim, generally the most accurate, is preserved."—St. Louis Globe-

It is not often that a wolf story is told in a way to show the cowardly nature of the animal. For this reason the following account, given by the author of "Twenty-seven Years in Canada West," has its own value and interest:

My wife's youngest sister had a pet sheep that she had brought up from a lamb, and to which she was much attached. One afternoon she was going lown to the spring for a pitcher of water, when she saw a large dog, as she thought, worrying her sheep, upon which she picked up a large stick and struck the beast two or three strokes with all her strength, thus compelling him to drop his prey.

This, however, he did very reluctantly, turning his head at the same time, and showing his teeth with a most diabolical She saw at once when he faced her, by his pricked ears, high cheek es, long, bushy tail and gaunt figure, that her antagonist was a wolf. Nothing daunted, she again bravely attacked him, for he seemed determined, in spite of her valiant opposition, to have her pet lamb, which he again attacked.

She boldly beat him off the second time, following him down the creek, thrashing him and calling for aid with all her might, when, fortunately, one of her brothers, attracted by her cries, ran down with the dogs and his gun. he was too late for a shot, for when the wolf saw the reinforcement he scamp ered off with all his speed.

DR. WOH, The Eminent Chinese Physician.

Dr. Woh's life work has been from early youth one of persistent and untiring observation, study and investigation, as fully as lay in his power to perfect himself in all branches of the art of healing human-sickness and disease. Born in China, of iufluential parents, of a family whose ancestors have been for generations deservingly renowned as leading physicians, Dr. Woh naturally followed in the footsteps of his fathers. In China he has practiced his profession for several years, being at one time a physician in the imperial Hospital, and in America for a long time his great number of patients, his wonderful and many cures, and the great list of letters from grateful and thankful patrons now prove him to be a remarkable and successful healer of sickness and all diseases.

For many years I have been troubled with lung disease, which finally ended in asthma and consumotion.

I consulted with the best physicians I could find but they did me no benefit, but on the contrary I got worse and worse, until I was told by one of them I could not recover.

Dr. Woh was recommended to me by a friend. I had been troubled for years with the disease in the contrary I got worse and worse, until I was told by one of them I could not recover.

WHICH TOOK HIM?

Mrs. Vincent, widowed and wealthy, ooked haughty and fierce.

It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and the sun took the liberty to intrude through the window into the library, furnished in purple leather and walled with books, which had had a pretty complete rest for the ten years that the late Vincent had been in his grave.

Mrs. Vincent sat and glared. Mrs. Vincent sat and giared.

Her dark, prominent and wrathfully astonished eyes had for their target a young man, in whose bearing appeared

If her hair was white, the black eyebrows held their color and emphasized the air you a man, with a man's courage, a of command to which the Roman conur of the nose most contributed.

Well, I never!" she cried, slapping down a pack of cards on the table.

The man smiled slightly. A young man, with curly brown hair, erful blue eyes, uptwisted mustache and a firm chin-a fresh, alert, compact, healthy young man, whose loose, elegant proved that he understood how achieve that careless grace which so charms women. "All that you are." "Which is not much, Mrs. Vincent." "He was your benefactor and you loved him, yet you refuse so little thing as to play piquet with your bene-factor's widow."

I do. Gratitude has its limits." "Evidently. You will not humor an old woman's weakness and lighten the burden of her loneliness?" "I will not. Besides it is not a weakness, but a disease, this insanity for piquet. Moreover, you are not old. On the contrary, Mrs. Vincent, you are still a charming woman, and by withdrawfrom the world and giving yourself over to cards you wrong yourself. Worse than that, you fail in your duty to your daughter, who has the life of a nun.

"That is nothing to you, sir!" "True.

Again he moved toward the door. 'Will nothing," asked the lady in alarm, "induce you to sit down to a game with me-just one? "Nothing that you would give, Mrs. Vincent.

Office: No. 261-2 E. Colorado Stract

The second day of the California Universalist Convention opened at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning with a conference meeting led by E. E. Spalding of Pasadena. The delegates who arrived the day before were out in full force, and there were a number of new arrivals present.

At 9 o'clock the convention proper convened, presided over by President A. G. Throop. The secretary, Rev. Dr. E. L. Conger, was assisted by Miss shaw of Oakland and Virgil Pyatt of Pasadena. The reports of the officers were then read. That of the Executive Committee was first taken up.

During the year four meetings were held. Reference was made to the movement of establishing a church at San Francisco, and the hope was expressed that such a movement will not be much longer delayed. Two faithbe much longer delayed. Two faithful friends of the convention stand ready to give $50 a month or $600 a year to start this important mission. At Fresco Rev. S. A. Gardner was reported as doing a large work for the liberal cause. This is an independent movement. The Santa Cruz mission is under the leadership of Rev. Edgar Leavett, was brought up. Dr. Conger in a stirring speech urged that the paper be generously supported by parishoners all over the State and the matter was referred to the Committee on Official Report.

The following resolution offered by L. M. Andrews was passed unanimously:

WHEREAS, during the past week—on last Sunday—the Church of the Unity of our Universalist friends of ore men for the work was emphasized. | therefore be it the was recommended that the con-vention have a State superintendent or missionary who could co-operate

Resolved, that we tender them our heartfelt sympathy.

This brought the morning exercises or missionary who could co-operate with the parishes in forwarding this work. The need of a training school was also pointed out. Under the head of church property it was stated that the convention has received a deed got from the Pasadena parish of its magnificent church and grounds, worth over $50,000 and free of debt. This has been deeded back to the parish in trust, so that if the parish from any grounds and leavest of event the property. The series of the Day?"

This brought the morning exercises to a close.

The morning exercises to a close.

The first concern the first concern that the property of the parish from any what Word has Our Church for the ground shall see as to exist the property. cause shall cease to exist, the property will revert to the convention without legal process. The report embraced the subject of conferences and urged the importance of such meetings. The report of the treasurer shows cash in the permanent fund to the amount of $392.66; receipts to the general fund, $485.79; expenditures for missions, $419.75. A habit of the special subject of convention. $392.66; receipts to the general fund, address was one of the Dest Genvered $485.70; expenditures for missions, before the convention.
$419.75. A habit of systematic giving was recommended. Among other statictics were cited the following: Five officers of the Weman's Association met. The Ustics were cited the following: Five officers of this branch of the church years ago there was not a self-sustainary parish in the State; now there are eight societies, missions and independent movements. Spalding Pasadens treasurer Mrs. R. sions and independent movements, including 487 families, besides 80 isolated families who are enrolled with some church. gifts, $35; from other sources, which with last year's balance $79.65; which with last year's balance makes a total of $485.79. The expenditures amounted to $419.75, leaving a larly so within the church, so that balance of $66.04 in the hands of the treasurer. It was suggested that here-faith is founded. The association is treasurer. It was suggested that hereafter every parish contribute something each year to the State convention. The interest on the permanent fund footed up $55.44. The secretary emphasized the importance of this mentioned and the active parishes emphasized the importance of this fund and urged that it be increased as rapidly as possible. The report closed thus: "The statistics of our church, which are tabulated, show a marked increase in all departments of church, parish and Sunday-school work. But while our parishes are so few and scattered, and our State so large, we ought to do all we can to find out and enroll the isolated families, and bring them into close relations with the convention, and coöperate with them in all possible ways to enlist and encourage them in our common work." The treasurer's report was afterward submitted, the figures agreeing with those of the secretary's report.

The Committee on Fellowship submitted a verbal report, to the effect that Rev. S. A. Gardner of Fresno had been received into the fellowship of the convention by transfer from the Massachusetts State Convention.

At 10 o'clock the subject of "The Work in California" was taken up, Rev. Edgar Leavet of Santa Cruz was fund and urged that it be increased as were congratulated in being fortunate

The speaker considered it "a position of honor to be invited to tell the Universalists of the State what to do, and of ease not to be compelled to tell how to do it, leaving that far weightier task to others." The honor and responsibility of the work was touched upon, and very complimentary reference made to Father Throop, "who by his early arrival on the ground, his early commencement of the work, and his munificent gifts in time work, and his munificent gifts in time antitled Father work.

They were pre-ceded by Ray and Lida Conger, as handsome a Master, and as pretty a Miss as one could anywhere find. The delicate beauty of the bride was set off to best advantage in a pearl-white gown of Japanese crépe. She carried a large bouquet of white roses. a large bouquet of white roses.

The ceremony concluded, a wedding breakfast was served. At noon the newly-married couple, the bride attired in a becoming dark brown traveling dress, left for Los Angeles, en route for San Francisco, where a brief honeymoon will be spent. The presents were numerous, and some were of rare value.

The bride and groom occupy a high position in social circles, and their many friends wish them all possible happiness. They will make their home for the summer at the Vande vort residence, corner of Lake avenue and Villa street.

A New Departure.
COMPTON, June 2.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES. | The school election for a trustee of the Compton school district came off at the schoolhouse Tuesday, J. J. Mortrn receiving 11 votes and Mrs. Charlotte M. Walters 1. Compton may be put down as a com-munity of advanced ideas and it may be that in this case that their advance is much in advance of the times and statutes. The election board consisted statutes. The election board consisted wholly of ladies, namely: Charlotte M. Walters, inspector; Harriet I. Downes, and Alice J. Smith, judges; Mary H. Buckham and Rev. Edgar H. Bickford,

Women lobbyists? They are few and far between. The imaginative observer about the Capitol will tell you that exand means committee to a corner of stat-uary hall, because in the former place a dark corridor inclosed for the purpos -the female lobbyists were so thick and bold as to bring scandal upon congress But this is not true. Women of all sorts congregated in the old room, as they do now when congress is in session, in statuary hall, it is true, but they are not

They are women of all sorts-innocen roung girls, mature matrons, coquettes, designing dowagers, congressmen's wives, daughters, friends, sweethearts. A majority of them are poor creatures with claims on other poor creatures, looking for congressional help in their search for government situations. Probably there are not more than two or three profeswomen lobbyists in town woman as a lobbyist is a failure in Washington in this day and generation .-Washington Cor. Augusta Chronicle.

Origin of the Clearing House. A correspondent asks: "When and where did she 'clearing house' originate?" In 1775 the bankers of London rented a house in Lombard street and fitted it with tables and desks for the use of their clerks, as a place where bills, notes drafts and other commercial paper might be exchanged without the tro sonal visits of employes to all the metro politan banks. Transfer tickets were used, and by means of this simple plan transactions involving many millions were settled without a penny changing hands. The Bank of England and ever other important bank in London are members of the Clearing House associ The first clearing house in the ation. The first clearing house in the United States was established by the associated banks of New York in 1853. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Treatment of Dandruff. Dr. Edward Clarke states that he has had good results in persistent dandruff from the following treatment: The scalr should first be thoroughly washed with soap and hot water, and then thoroughly dried with a warm and soft cloth. There should then be rubbed into the scale; glycerine of tannin, of the strength ten to thirty grains to the ounce. Very obstinate cases will require the higher strength of tannin. This process should be repeated twice a week at first, once a week afterward. If tannin fails, as it will in some cases, then resort is had to resorcin. After the formation of dandruff has ceased the head should be rubbed daily with olive oil, containing to the ounce ten grains of carbolic acid and a dram of oil of cinnamon.—Lancet.

CANVASSING AS A BUSINESS.

One Hundred Thousand at It in This Country. Though It Pays Poorly.
"You often see advertisements for agents to sell one article or another promising $100 a week to a lively man, but there is no such money in the business," said an old hand to a reporter the other day. "A clever man can clear twenty-five dollars a week as a traveling salesman or canvasser if he has a really first rate thing to dispose of, but that is about the limit. "Of course I am not speaking of the regularly employed commission agents who drum for large houses and often get big salaries, but of the army of people, probably 100,000 strong, who obably 100,000 strong, who spread emselves from the big cities all over the United States in pursuit of orders for everything under the sun that is marketable, from a subscription book to a patent instantaneous mustard plaster. Of that number 50,000 are book agents. It is that line which is chiefly affected by women, who do not hesitate to employ all the persuasions of their sex in the pursuit of their industry. Opposed to them the male book agent is at a disadvantage, having neither smiles nor tears by women, who do not hesitate to employ that would be effective wherewith to extort a subscription from the unwilling customer. Besides, a woman is not likely to be kicked out or have a dog set ipon her.

"Undoubtedly the modest sex is that in petticoats, but when it comes to selling books a woman can usually discount a man every time. Why, I know two in this very town who do not hesitate to go to receptions at private houses un-asked and tackle any one with whom they may get into conversation, drawing from beneath their cloaks whatever volume they may be engaged in trying to circulate One advantage only I know of is possessed by the male book agent which his female rival does not possess, and that is his opportunity of exercising his fascination upon the serupon the servery much addicted to buying books in that way.

"In the trade there is a distinction made between the salesman and the canvasser, the former selling at wholesale usually and the latter at retail. A traveling agent sells either on the installment sales he gets 40 per cent. of the proceeds as his commission; if he sells on the in-stallment plan, by which the purchaser pays so much on what he buys, he reeives 20 per cent. when the order for the article is delivered by him to the firm which employs him. Goods are sent him C. O. D. for cash purchasers; the agent returns the full amount he receives, and out of that is given his com-mission. Agents are not allowed to sell goods for less than the prices indicated on the lists of the firm, though they are permitted by some concerns to sell for more if they can.

"Next to the book agents canvassers for patented articles are most numerous, and this sort of canvassing has increase very largely within recent years. Tea, coffee, silverware and pictures are extensively sold in the same manner. Fe male canvassers confine themselves almost wholly to light literature, such as novels or books of poems, photograph albums, corsets, silverware and dressmaking charts.

dead loss, but we are reconciled to it by the fact that we charge more for the goods when cash is not paid-enough additional, in fact, to recoup us. We can afford, therefore, to take chances. Installment buyers are notoriously slow and delinquent in their payments, but mild threats, judiciously formulated, usually fetch the money where nothing else will serve."-Washington Star.

He Has Not Secured His Pensi A veteran soldier of Salem who applied for a pension was obliged to forward to Washington some testimony as to his disability, and this is the affidavit that he presented to his lawyer: "This is to cer tify that John Jones worked for me be fore the war and since. He doesn't do half a day's work now and never could." Jones' counsel thought that the testimony would not help along the claimant's case and he wisely concluded not to send it.

The Much-mooted Question of Riparian Riguts.

THE COURTS.

DECISION BY SUPREME COURT of the State to

The case of the Riverside Water Company, respondent, against Matthew Gage, appellant, involving the much-mooted question of riparian rights, which was argued before the Supreme Court, sitting in bank, in this city at the last October term, has at last been decided by that body, which affirms the judgment of the trial court.

The following opinion of Chief Justices Beatty, which is concurred in by Justices McFarland, Paterson, Garoutte and Sharpstein, was vesterday received for filing in contains many points of interest on the question at issue:

THE DECISION.

The plaintiff, a C lifernia corporation organized for the purpose of appropriating owning, selling and distributing water for the irrigation of lands and for do Inestic and other purposes, brings this suit to determine the adverse claim of the suit to determine the adverse claim of the defendant to a portion of the waters of the Santa Ana River, and for an injunction restraining the defendant from diverting water in excess of his right.

The findings and decree of the Superior Court were in favor of the plaint off, and the defendant appeals from the judgment, claiming that the findings do not correspond with the allegations of the complaint, and that they are insufficient to support the decree.

The substance of the decree is that the plaintiff is, as against the defendant the

they are insufficient to support the decree.

The substance of the decree is that the plaintiff is, as against the defendant, the owner and entitled to the use of all of the w ter flowing in the Santa Ana River at the head of defendant's ditch during the irrigating season of each year, i.e. the months of May, June, July, August and September, except 289% inches, which the defendant owns and is entitled to use, and the defendant is perpetually enjoined from diverting or obstructing the flow past his ditch, or any water in excess of that quantity.

It is contended, in the first place, that this decree is erroneous because it goes entirely beyond the case made by the allegations of the complaint. But we think counsel for appellant misconstrues the complaint. It allegas, rery cearly and explicitly that the plaintiff at the commencement of the action was, and for more than ten years prior thereto had been the owner and entitled to the use of all the waters flowing in the Santa Ana River, at the point where defendant's dam was erected, in excess of 200 inches measured under a four inch pressure; that the defendant claimed some estate, title or interest in said waters in excess of said 200 fuches, which claim was wrongful and unfounded, and that he had wrongfully and without right placed obstructions in the river which prevented the water from flowing down to plaintiff as it was of right accusioned to flow, whereby plaintiff had been deprived of the use of upward of four hundred and fify inches of water.

This is not a ciaim, as appellant's counsel contends, that the plaintiff is owner and entitled to the use of 450 inches and no more of the water flowing in the Santa Ana River at the defendant's ciaim to any water in excess of that quantity is wrongful and unfounded. The allegation that plaintiff has been deprived of the use and enfor-and that the detendant's claim to any water in excess of that quantity is wrongful and unfounded. The allegation that piaintiff has been deprived of the use and enjoyment of upward of four nundred and fitty inches of water by the acts of the defendant in erecting the dam, does not limit the piaintiff's claim to that deantity, or in any manner quality the alegation that it owns all the water in excess of 200 inches.

The issue tendered on this point was very clearly defined by the express admission of the defendant in his answer that he did caim all the water flowing in the Santa Ana River at the point of his dam, and his allegation that his claim was lawful and valid.

The findings of the Court were exactly responsive to this issue, and the decree fol-

The findings of the Court were exactly responsive to this issue, and the decree follows the findings.

The second point made by the appellant is a refinement upon the first and consists of a criticism upon the sliegation and finding, that the plaintiff was the owner of a quantity of water at the defendant's dam. It is urged that an appropriator of water does not become the owner of the very body of the water as his personal property until he has acquired the control of it in conduits or reservoirs of his own. (Citing Canal Co. vs. Hoyt, 57 Cal. 46.)

The proposition, as stated, is undoubtedly correct, and if in this case, as in the case cited, the plaintiff's right of action depended upon its ownership of the corpus of the water at defendant's dam, as its personal property, the objection to the indings would be material. But in this case, the plaintiff is not seeking to recover the value of water which had become its personal unobstructed flow of which the plaintiff is entitled.

The remaining points urged by the appeliant all relate to various specific findings of the Court to the effect that plaintiff his acquired by prescription certain rights a against the defendant, and the defendant is barred by certain sections of the statute of imitations from the assertion of any rights he may have had as a riparian owner.

initiations from the assertion of any rights he may have had as a riparian owner.

It is contended by the appellant that it is not enough to find that the plaintiff has acquired a prescriptive right to water as against the defendant, but that the facts must be found from which a prescriptive right arises, and it is further contended that although the bar of the statute of innitations may be pleaded by a baid allegation that a claim of defense is barred by a particular section of the code, a finding upon such issue is not sufficient unless it shows the existence of every fact necessary to bring the party pleading the statute within the provisions of the sections relied upon.

All this may be so in a case where the fact of prescription, or the bir of the statute is directly and secessarily in issue, but if a finding on these points is not necessary by the pleadings, as we think is the case here, the insufficiency of the finding becomes immaterial.

propriation, the detendant contains a succeeded, and by reas on thereof to have a right superior to that of plaintiff. He plants himself, in other words, upon the ground of prior appropriation and prescription sight.

As to all these matters the findings of the Court are full and specific. It is found that there were such earlier appropriations; that the defendant has succeeded to the rights of Court are full and specific. It is found that there were such earlier appropriations; that the defendant has succeeded to the rights of certain of the appropriators, and the wat r awarded to him by the decree is the quantity which it is found was appropriated by his grantors prior to the appropriation under which the plaintiff claims.

There can be and there is no complaint that the findings are insufficient as to thrights of the defendant as an appropriation upon which the defendant seems mainly to have acted, he did allege in his answer than he was the owner of a tractof land containing about twenty-six hundred acresthrough and over which the Santa An River flowed for a distance of about three miles, and that most of the tract was susceptible of, and would be benefited by, irrigation. He did not, however, allege that he was entitled, as a riparian owner, to any definite quantity of water for the irrigation of his riparian lands, sor did he allege any facts showing or tending to show what priportion of the waters of the stream he coudressonably exhaust for that purpose. Nor is it alleged whether his land was above or below the point of plaintiff's diversion.

In short, we think the answer insufficient to raise any issue as to the extent of defendant's right as a mere riparian proprietor to divert and exhaust any portion of the waters of the stream. The finding on this point is as full and no fuller than the allegations, and does not conflict with the general finding in favor of plaintiff as to ownership of the water decreed to it.

It was not necess ry, therefore, to support the conclusions and judgment of the Court, to find that the plaintiff had gained a prescriptive right, or that the defendant was barred of his riparian right; and, conceding these findings to be as insufficient as appellant contends they are, we think the other findings cover all the material issues, and fully support the judgment.

ailowed until Monday next in which to do so.

Samuel Black was taken before United States Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday for arraignment upon the charge of having maliciously destroyed a quantity of grain on a piece of land belonging to the Government and C. O. Barker on the Banning reservation on the 25th ult. He was ordered to reappear for preliminary examination on July 9, next, and was released meanwhile upon his own recognizance.

Court Notes would be material. But in this case the plaintiff is not seeking to recover the value of water which had become its personal property. It is seeking the determination of the adverse claim of defendant to the right to divert and use a portion of the stream, and the alegation and finding of ownership and right of use to all water flowing in the stream at defendant's dam in excess of a certain number of inches a only a mode; and a very apt and sufficient mode of designating the quantity of water to the unobstructed flow of which the plaintiff is entitled.

In Department One yesterday morning the case appealed by Churie Lee Kong, recently convicted by Police Younge Smith, and it beling shown by the defendant's counsel, F. P. Kelly, Esq., that the complaint upon which he was arrested of designating the quantity of water to the unobstructed flow of which the plaintiff is entitled.

Judge Smith, and it being shown by the defendant's counsel, F. P. Keily, Esq., that the complaint upon which he was arrested was defective in that it uid not contain facts sufficient to constitute a public offence, the Court ordered the defendant discharged. Judge Smith yesterday signed a certificate of probable cause in the Fleming case, and the defendant's counsel gave notice of their intention to move the Court for the admission of their client to bull pending the decision of the Supreme Court on an appeal, which motion, it is understood, will be opposed by the District Attorney.

In Department Two yesterday, the argument in the Leonis will contest was again resumed, J. R. Dupuy, Esq., and Judge Heymert addressing the jury on behalf of the heirs, and S. M. White, Esq., closing the case for Espiritu Chijuin. Several other attorneys have yet to be heard on the subject on behalf of their respective clients, so that it is probable that the case will not be entrusted to the jury until late this evening at the earliest.

V. S. Barber filed a petition in Department Two or letters of administration on the estate of Mrs, Matilda B. Yourt, his mother, who died on October 24, 1889, leaving personal property in this county valued at 4600.
